

Pedro M. Silva - The Navigator Company

Head of Digital Technologies

Head of Digital Technologies in The Navigator Company since 2022, has a long experience in industrial process and management, namely as Mill Manager in Figueira da Foz Industrial Complex from 2016 until 2021.

Graduated in Chemical Engineer from FEUP in Porto and Master Science in Chemical Engineer from McGill University in Montreal, has an Executive MBA from FEUC in Coimbra.

Pedro Matos Silva has been working with The Navigator Company since 1995, starting in Aveiro Mill, having crossed all the main areas of Pulp, Paper and Energy production in the group, building a deep knowledge of the processes and businesses, from market pulp, kraft sack paper, printing and writing paper and tissue.

Throughout this route it dealt with profound technological transformations on process control, its supervision tools, and data analysis as the source of information to better decision making.